The Theme

In Living Color. Ames High is bursting with color. Every student reflects his or her own unique spectrum derived from their talents, personality, and attributes. Over time, some colors fade while others explode in brightness. Ames High students continue to project their color schemes to the world to create a world in living color.

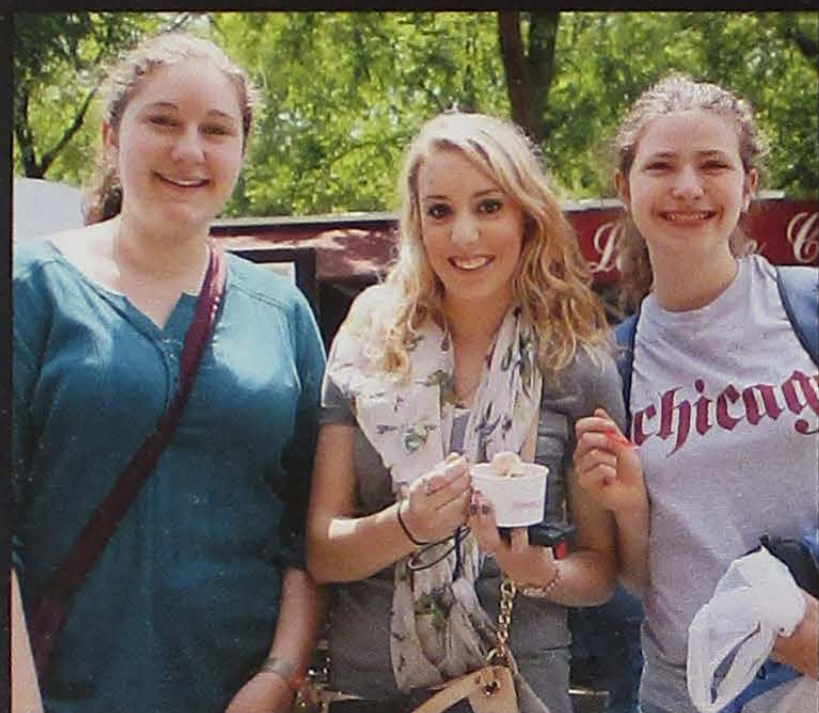

SUMMER • 2013

Students on the Europe trip had an amazing time. They went to London, Paris, Florence and Rome. In London they saw famous landmarks like Westminster Abbey and Shakespeare's Globe Theater. Paris brought the Eiffel Tower and Notre Dame and in Florence the Duomo captured the attention of everyone around. The massive coliseum in Rome rounded out the 12 day trip.

Ames high students started the year off enthusiastic and ready to get to work. Freshmen flooded the halls searching desperately for classrooms while seniors walked at an easy pace, preparing to begin their final chapter of high school. All students were surprised when Spence announced that he had pulled some strings and purchased brand new "amazing" t-shirts for everyone to wear to the first pep assembly of the year. That night, many students showed up cheering loudly for our football players. Ames High defeated Des Moines East by a score of 47 - 20. Students cheered on Volleyball and swimming, coming together as one for 2013-14.

Marching On

The Ames High Marching Band has a history of success. Every year they travel to Boone to participate in the Pufferbilly Days Parade and every year they win the 4A division trophy. However, they surprisingly only spend about a day or two practicing for this parade. The majority of their time is spent rehearsing for half-time shows at the football games. This year, the band played music by The Beatles, Chicago, and selections from Cirque Du Soleil.

This being her first year of being in band, senior Jessica Misra provides an interesting insight on being involved in the band: "There's a lot more work that goes into it than you would think, but it's still pretty chill."

The entire student body came out for the Friday night football games to support the Ames High football team. With the nice weather continuing through the fall days, the student section was filled. Ames played the Ankeny Centennial football team winning closely, 34 - 30. The team, the cheerleading squad, and the large crowd celebrated the third win of the season against one of the state's top teams. The school was excited about the team's strong start to the season, moving to a 3-0 start. The Little Cyclones featured an explosive Oregon-style offense that put its emphasis on running as many offensive plays as possible.

The Ames High marching band this year featured classic rock songs by bands like the Beatles. They found their music had great crossover appeal, as the adults in the crowd were at least as familiar with the tunes as the students. Drum Majors Laura Graveline and Stephanie Shin led this year's marching band, providing strong leadership to this spirited bunch.

The Winter Cheer squad rounded out the huge group of students it took to pull off each game so that the packed could simply sit back and enjoy the game.

Girls Swimming

The Ames High Girls' Swim team continues to wow all as they add to their four-year undefeated streak.

State champion junior diver Maggie James continues to dive into first place. Meanwhile, seniors such as Jessica Misra, Sydney Sorenson, Hannah Newell and Sara Bentley have had their hands full with the pressure to win state for the fourth time and being leaders to their teammates.

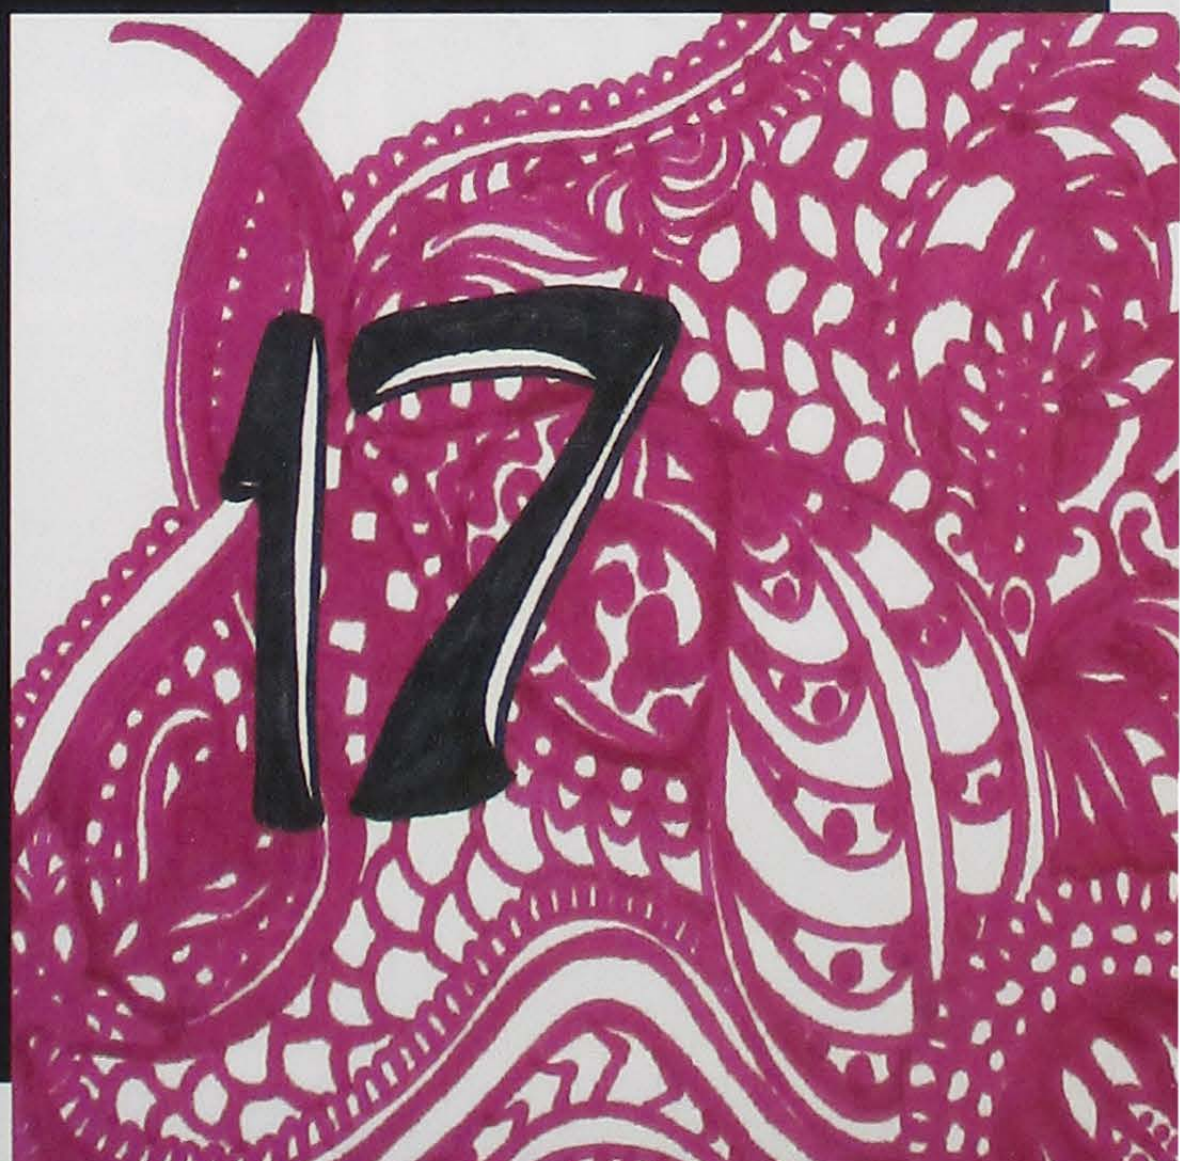

The girls' head coach Dan Flannery and new coach Joe Fisher continue to push the girls to victory. With around fifty girls on the team, they have their hands full between helping polish starts off of the blocks to whole team building exercises such as games of water polo and various scavenger hunts.

HOMECOMING

Throwback to the 50s was the homecoming theme for 2013. Students went all out for the week of activities.

Monday's festivities started off with an all-school kickoff assembly. Students dressed as twins schoolwide and people had a hard time telling who was whom. A rockin' parade finished the day like a cheesecake.

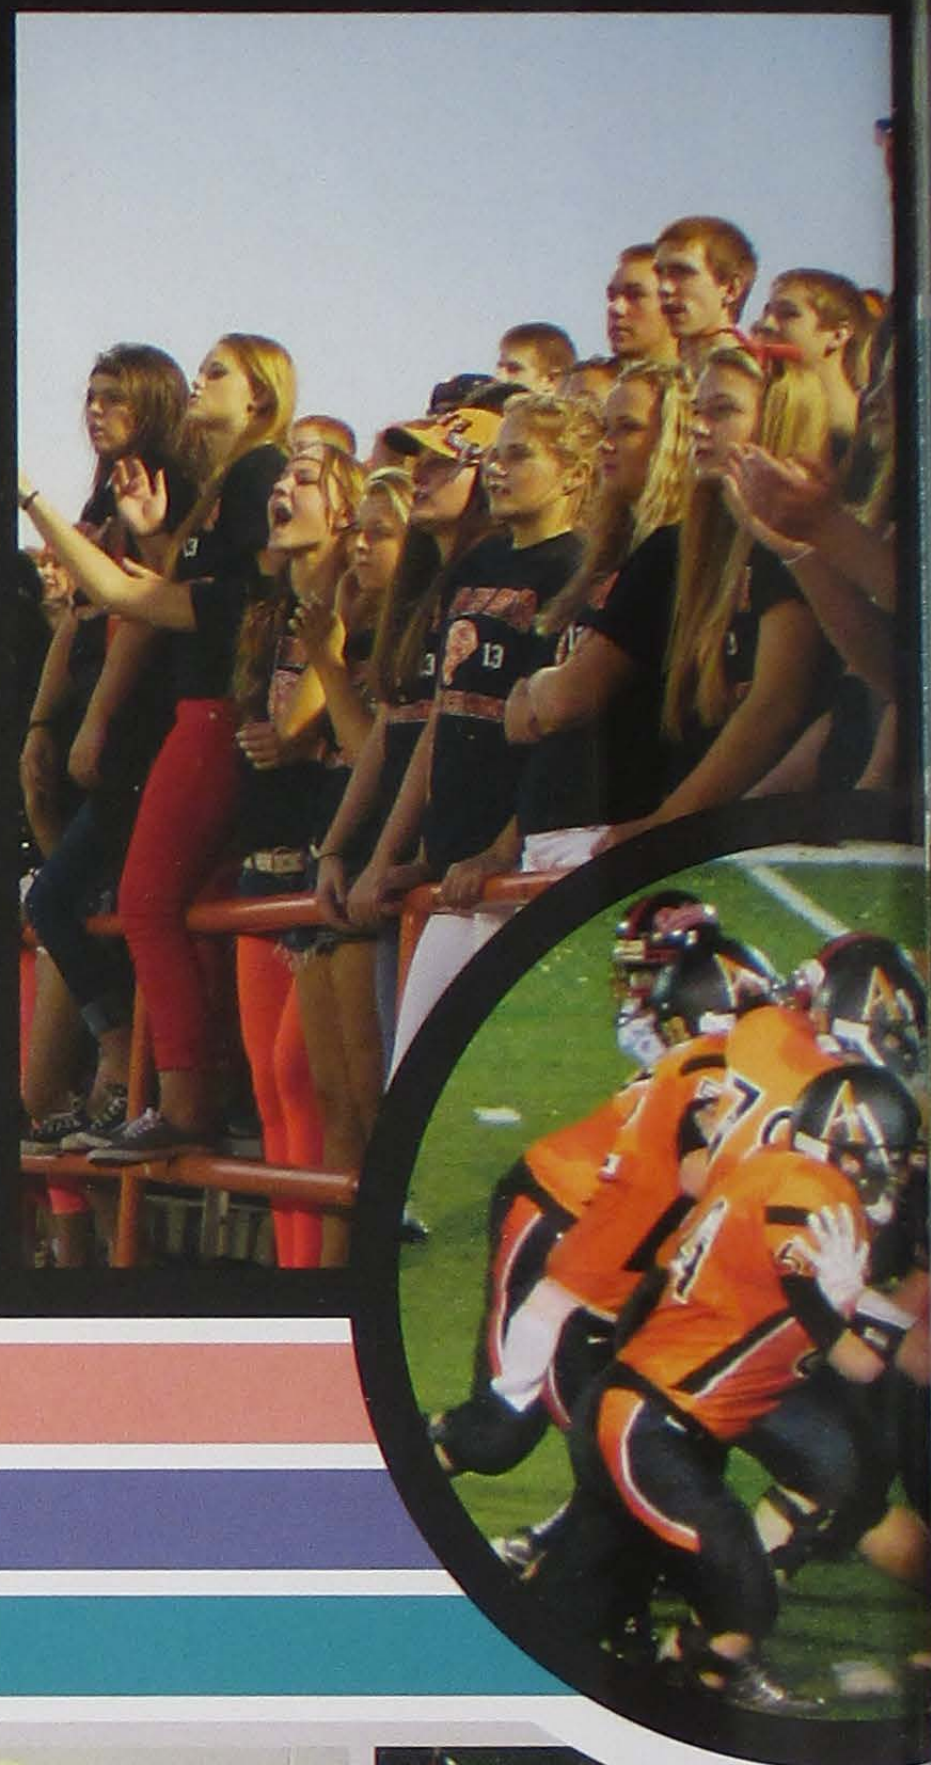

Tuesday's color day had each of the classes easily identifiable. Freshmen wore white, sophomores wore red, juniors wore blue and seniors wore black.

Wednesday there was a delicious pancake breakfast to start out the day. Poodle skirts, bouffant hairstyles and leather jackets ruled the halls as many of the students dressed their 50s best.

Thursday, students wore their homecoming shirts.

Friday, plenty of students showed their school spirit in this year's homecoming game shirt. The game was a swift 62-21 win over the Ankeny Hawks.

The dance on Saturday night was less hand jive and more twerk. Still, students had their socks rocked off.

Volleyball Success

The Ames High Volleyball team had a successful season this year. They were the conference champions with key wins over Waukee, South Hamilton, Lincoln, Fort Dodge, and Mason City. Many of the seniors in volleyball have heartfelt feelings for the team and are sad thinking about how this is their last year together. "I really look forward to watching [the team] next year," says senior Cierra Davey. "The things I will miss the most are team bonding, and for me, being on the court with my sister Brittany."

Next year's season looks bright. "Overall, it was a great season," continues Davey. "We had an awesome group of underclassmen this year with a lot of talent and potential. We expect great things from them next season." The volleyball team provided a lot for Ames High's outstanding fall sports season.

What is your favorite part of Fall?

Ames High Senior

SPIRIT: What activities are you involved in?

Jennifer: I'm involved in Drumline, Senior Senate, Senior Girls Club, Speech, Madrigal Play, Track, Softball, and I love baking.

SPIRIT: What do you love about Ames High?

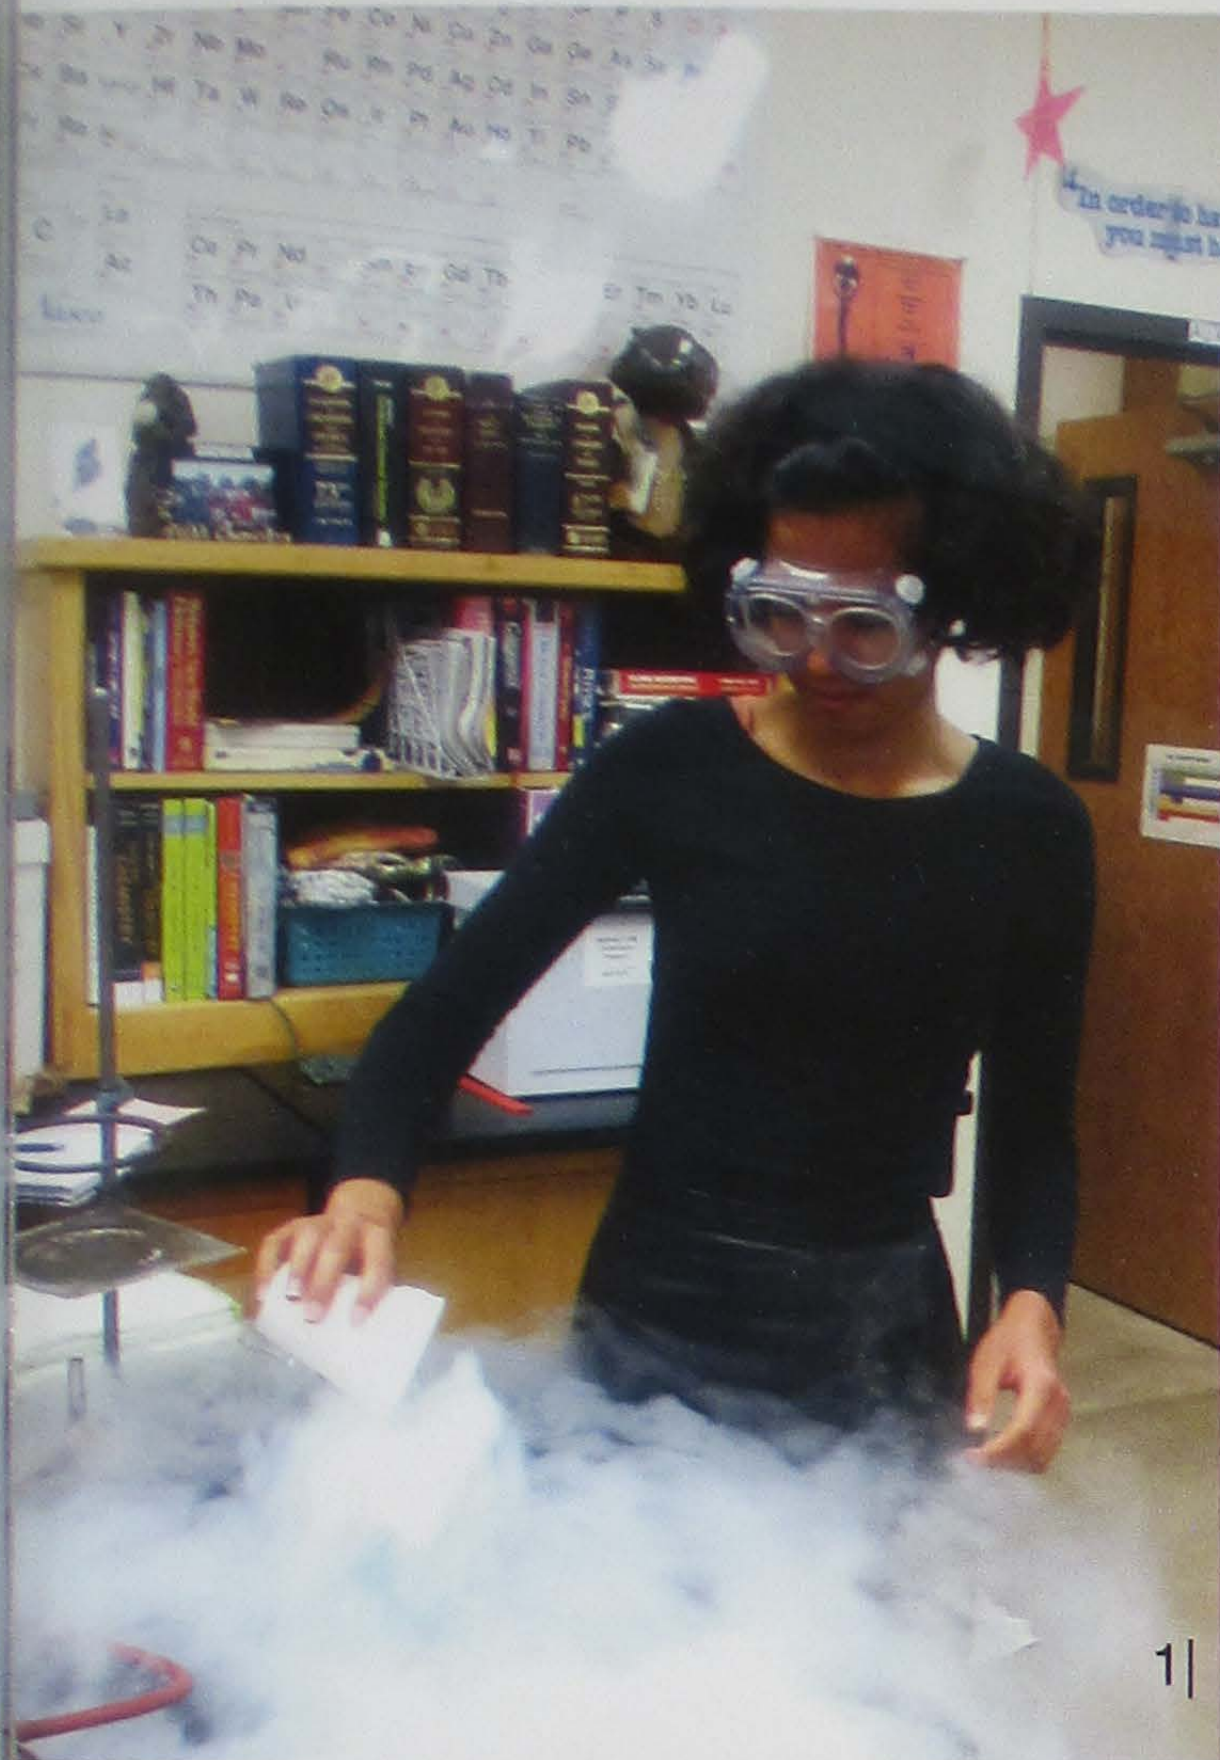

Jennifer: The fact that the teachers seem to actually care about your life and the amount of energy in the school. I love the fact that I can do about anything and I know that I will be accepted.

SPIRIT: What do you love about Fall?

Jennifer: The hot drinks, falling leaves and, well, baking things with apples and pumpkins, of course!

SPIRIT: What are your plans for next year?

Jennifer: I'm going to go somewhere close to home and study hospitality and event management.

Seniors Dejanee McAtee and Bailee Jackson

Instead of a white-out or a black-out, this week's football game was a pink-out. This was the final event of Ames High's "pink week," a tradition started last year to raise awareness and support for those fighting breast cancer. Earlier that week, the volleyball players also showed support by donning pink shirts and selling pink cookies at their home game.

"Seeing Ames High bring attention to breast cancer awareness was a great thing. My mom has been battling breast cancer since last July and it's amazing to see the school show support for something that impacts so many people and families."

Don't txt n' drive

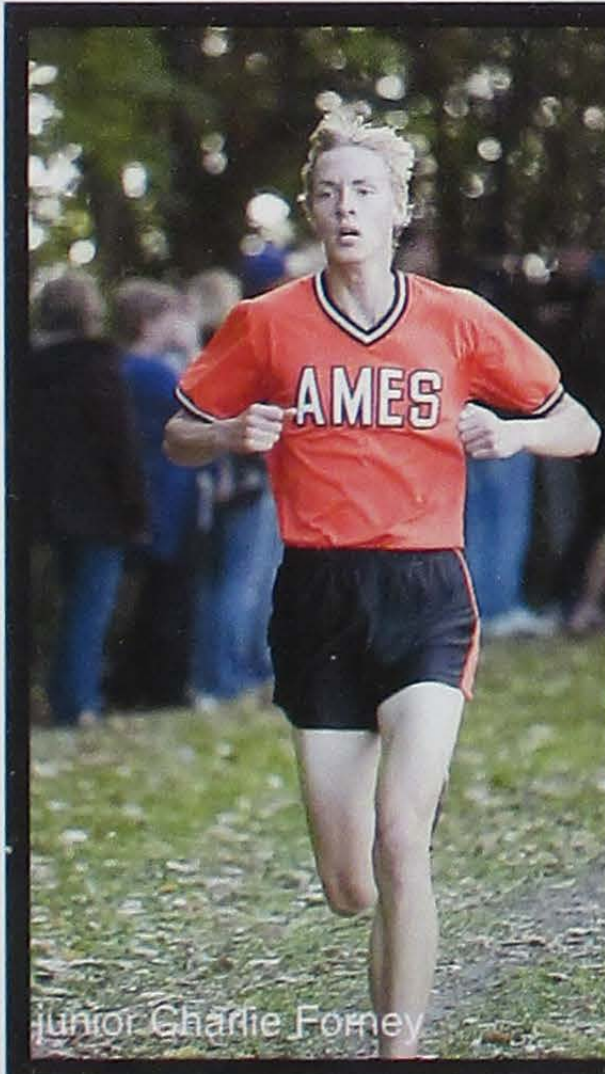

Senior Temi Agbaje

All students at Ames High received their second t-shirt of the year to wear at Friday's assembly. This assembly was to encourage safe driving and was sponsored by State Farm Insurance. It started with two thrilling rounds of the Ames High loyalty song played by the marching band and ended with a heartfelt speech by Spence about his devastating experience with unsafe driving. This week was not only dedicated to changing student behavior, but also to encourage safe driving in the city of Ames. "What we want our students to be is change agents, because frankly, when you're driving around, not only do you see students texting, but you also see adults and things of that nature. We want to work to be proactive, to make a change," said Principal Evans.

The Ames High Boys Cross Country ran their final meet of the season for both the junior varsity and varsity teams on Thursday, October 17th. The cross country teams gathered together the night before every meet and eat loads of pasta. Their final dinner was bittersweet as they celebrated a great season but recognized that for many, this would be their final Ames High spaghetti feed.

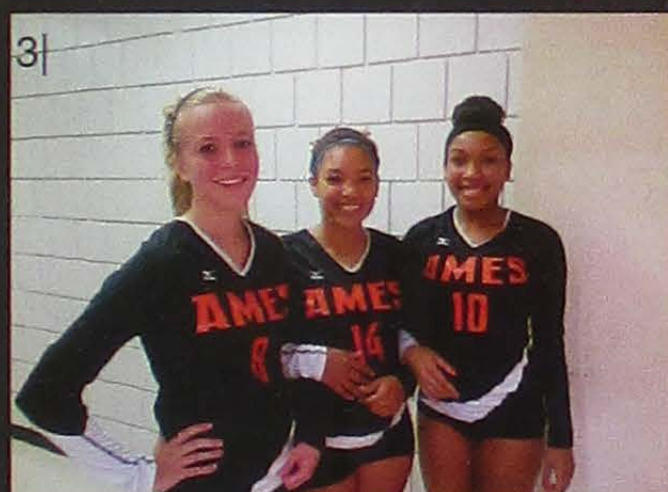

The crowd goes crazy cheering as the Ames High football team powers over Johnston on senior night. The game finished 41-7, Ames. It was the latest in a season long clinic on offensive efficiency. The team enjoyed finishing the season at home, leaving them undefeated going into playoffs. To the right you see the senior girls celebrating the win with the other teammates. The Ames High Marching Band finished out the season with two songs from cirque du soleil with a superb half time performance rounding out senior night at Ames High School. It was a win all around and left the crowd as happy as could be.

Boys and Girls XC Qualify for State 2013

Playing to Win

The Ames High athletes were extremely busy this week with state competitions in swimming, diving, and cross country. The girls swimming and diving team placed first in the regional team championship for the fourth time in a row! Senior girls celebrated being state champs all through their high school career. The swim team woke up early to travel to Marshalltown. After many early morning and after-school practices preparing to win state, all of the work paid off. Freshmen to senior girls swam their hardest to keep the winning tradition. Families and close friends came to cheer as Ames swam to first place. Freshman Hannah Dietrich commented, "Everyone on the team had a great season, and we all worked together to bring home the win. It was really a team effort. We couldn't have done it without teamwork and Jesus Christ. It was fun to be able to experience it with the other girls." The swimmers continue to spend lots of time preparing for the next season to keep the legacy rolling.

State Cross Country

This year, both the Boys and Girls Varsity Cross Country teams qualified for State. The races were run on a cold, windy Saturday morning. Both teams ran well with the boys placing eighth and the girls placing second. This marked the highest finish for either team in the past ten years. The girls specifically had a fantastic race, this being the first time they placed in the top three. Both teams are on track to place even better at state next year.

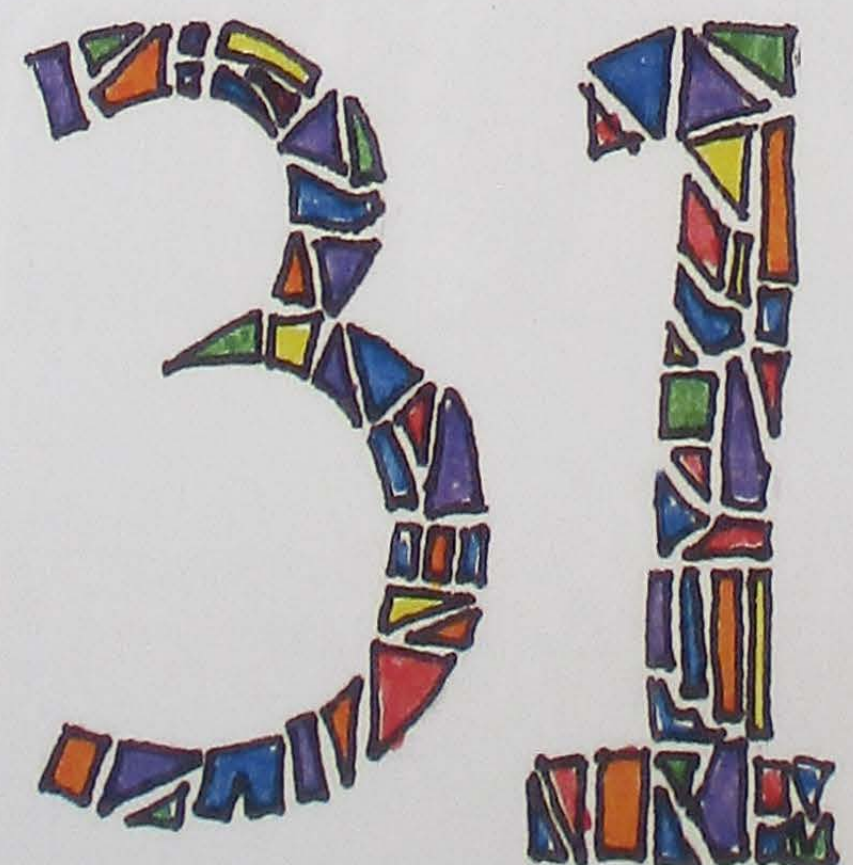

The Girls and Boys Cross Country teams had spectacular seasons overall.

The girls coach Dan Flannery does a traditional "trick" after every state championship, and this year he did a front somersault into the pool. It's an historic run for a program that has come to define success.

Midsummer Jersey

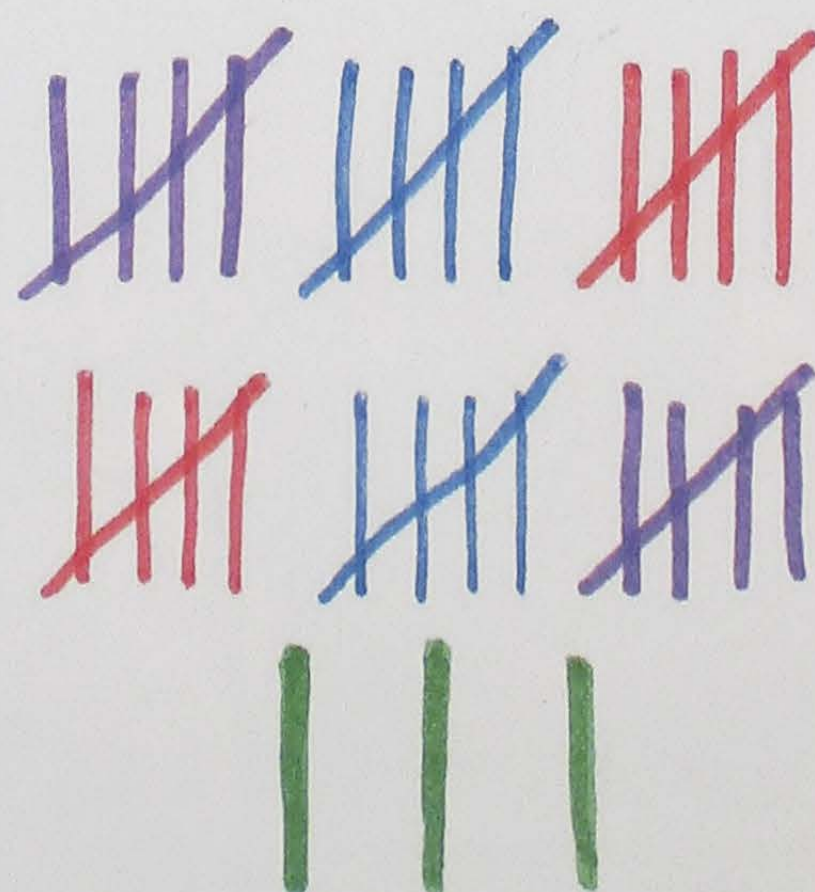

The Ames High Thespians put on their Jersey accents to perform Midsummer Jersey for the fall play. Midsummer Jersey is a reenacted play of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream but set in modern day New Jersey. The mix of modern day and Elizabethan times offered unique challenges. "Getting everyone costumes for this play was insane because everything that was needed was weird for costumes due to the crisscross of the time periods," junior Anna Imhoff said. Yet most would agree that the costumes were done well and the play was a hit. Other cast members commented on the makeup used for the play. As junior Mykah Kennedy noted, "there was a lot of tan involved." Fellow junior and cast member Connor Johnson agreed, stating, "all the tan. I wanted more out of the cast, but I couldn't get past the tan."

Orchestra Tour 2013

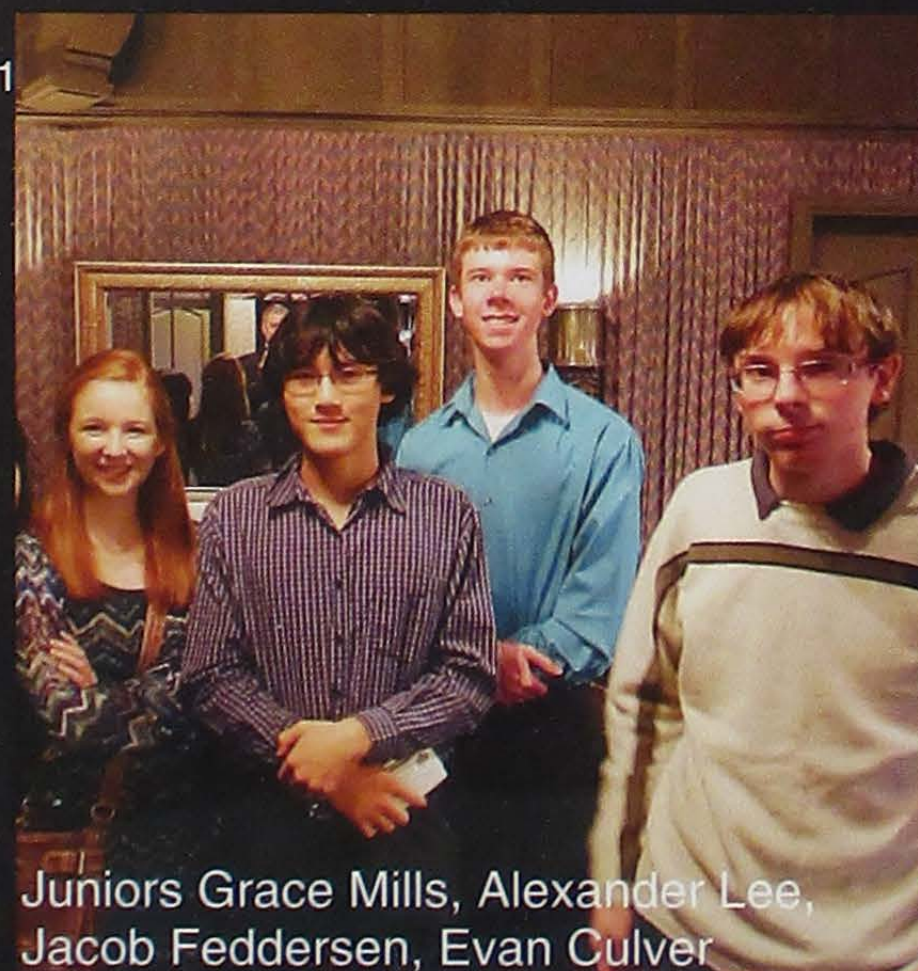

Every time the AHS Orchestra is able to go on tour, they go to Minneapolis. Senior Kentrell Killins explained that "in all we had around six performances, including clinics. My favorite performance was the clinic at St. Olaf College with their orchestra conductor. He was very good and helped us improve a lot with our pieces."

Most agreed, however, that their favorite part of the whole trip was the dinner theater in Chanhassen. "It was a formal dinner with very good food," senior Kenny Slagel said. "We watched a great live performance of Fiddler on the Roof, and the actors all did a good job," senior Patricia Kim said.

Overall, it was a great experience all around. The seniors all agreed that if underclassmen get the chance, they, too, should go on orchestra tour. They also said that while orchestra sometimes doesn't get as much recognition, it is a lot of fun. "If you have been interested in orchestra at all, you should join!" junior Kate Murray said.

This year's food drive was tri-sponsored by three clubs: Key Club, SHEPH, and DECA. Senior Hill Wang was one of the chosen leaders for both Key Club and SHEPH. "Key Club is a student-run organization that brings volunteer opportunities to eager high school students," explains Wang. Their activities include reading to children, cleaning up highways, and participating in Relay for Life. "Our weekly Tuesday meetings are run by five more-than-handsome and capable leaders" (referring to himself along with juniors Eli Bratsch-Prince and Kyle Schaudt, and seniors Tyler Wessels and Paul Opheim). Ames High Madrigal Ames High Madrigal ended the week with the 25th anniversary of their annual dinner. The a capella group and choir teacher Mr. Linn had been working towards this weekend since the elite group of 28 singers auditioned in late September. The group was conducted by the king and queen, Carl Meese and Megan Diesslin.

There were a lot of people involved to make all three nights as magical as possible. Parents helped to set up decorations, table settings, and tables. Servers helped the nights flow as they brought in soup, bread, pork and potatoes, and dessert.

Guests enjoyed an evening of great music by different groups, including a brass group, a strings group, and a solo harpist. Afterwards the madrigal singers ended the night with their concert, full of traditional songs like "Carol of the Bells," and new songs like "Still, Still, Still." All agreed the night was a resounding success!

The many faces of Nick Stott

How long have you been dancing?

I have been dancing for 13 years and have loved every moment of it.

How heavy is that skirt?

about 65-75 pounds....

How many hours a week did you rehearse for nutcracker?

8 hours a week

What are your thoughts on makeup?

It was interesting and I also found myself coming to school after a long night with bright lips or dark eyes when I wasn't able to get all of it off.

What is it like to have little girls under your skirt?

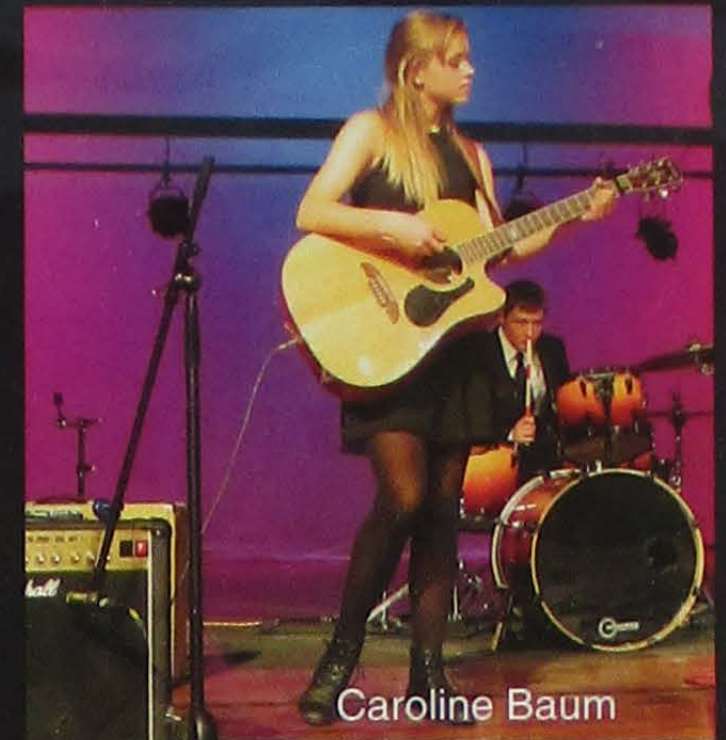

It always takes going through the dance a few times before they learn that I cannot actually see them and that it's their job to be out of the way of my feet.

The annual Battle of the Bands brought in a mixture of local student bands in the area. Seniors Satchel Bruna and Jens Hoifeldt MC'd the event bringing the crowd into participating while the bands set up. Bruna commented, "I can't believe that we pulled off the Battle of the Bands in such a short amount of time. They told us we'd be emceeing literally 10 days before the actual event." Ames students as well as Gilbert students unite together performing a mixture of madrigal songs. New band titled "Texaport" performed for the first time including juniors Caroline Baum, Jay Amin, Eli Bratsch-Prince, Ian Steenblock, and senior Carl Meese. Bratsch-Prince also performed with his original band "Trigger-Fish" including junior Patrick Jasper, and Gilbert students David Adcock and Caleb Ramen. The most punk rock band of the night was "Projekt Theory" consisting of junior Jake Weeces, Gilbert students Matthew Shuka, Quinton Nespor, Nolan Adair, and Gilbert graduate Carson Gardner. Senior Jennifer Berg commented, "I thought it was super impressive how well tech support did because they had only practiced together that week." By the end of the night, the musicians inspired the audience for next year.

Winter Madness

Everyone knows that Winter Madness is the week right before Winter Break. But how many people know what goes on behind the scenes? Student Council sponsors, creates, and runs all of Winter Madness. They set up fundraisers such as the dodgeball tournament, the change drive, and the Battle of the Bands. These events raise money to buy Christmas presents for needy families. On the Saturday after Winter Madness, members of Student Council go to Target with a budget to buy presents for three underprivileged families in the community. Then they go wrap the presents and distribute them to the families.

This year was one of the most successful Winter Madness's in several years, raising over $1000 for charity. This was partly thanks to the new arcade games put in the main lobby and partly due to the very well attended Battle of the Bands as well as other fundraisers. In the end, three families received an abundance of Christmas presents.

Seniors Daveion Curtis, Madison Hunke, Natalie Vernon, Mark Burton, and Kate Bergin and numerous other students came together before winter break to decorate cookies the holiday season.

District Speech Club

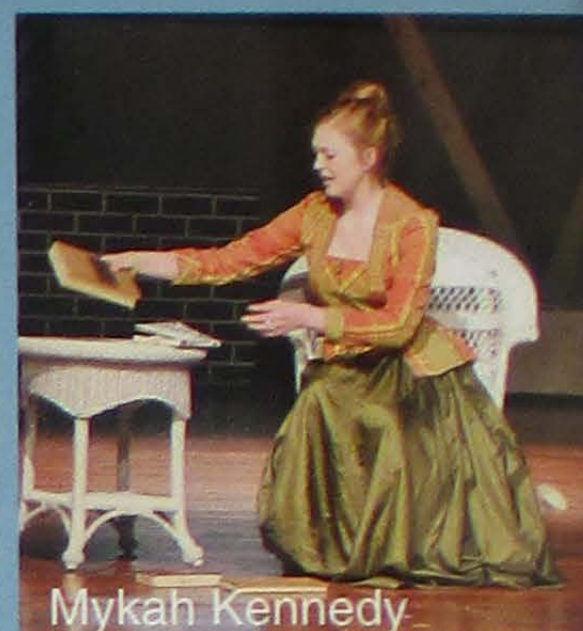

The Ames High Speech club prepared all week for the district competition that was held this weekend at the Ames Middle School. Students spent lots of time memorizing lines, getting costumes prepared, and much more all for the One Act Play "The Importance of Being Ernest."

The Speech Club participants did a spectacular job in their competition. Many who competed at the district level received a 1, which is the highest scoring you can receive, and moved on to state. Many of the students who participated in Speech Club have also been active with the Ames High Drama department. Whether they have roles in plays or musicals, the drama never stops for these students!

Speech club is led to teachers Mrs. Miller and Mr. Ripley, along with Iowa State representative Connie Ringlee. They are an active club whose success just seems to grow every year.

This year's "Winter Dance" electrified the spirit of the student body. It was the first year that the school promoted a casual dance over the traditional formal one. Although many students dressed up anyway, it was a nice change for others who could go without the intensive preparations. A lot of seniors came to the dance in support of their friends on the Winter Formal Court. Senior Satchel Bruna commented profusely on how dissapointed he was that fellow senior and swag king Rohan Nayar didn't win the crown, but the student body as a whole hollared with approval as those crowned shared a moment of cyclone style glory with their peers.

High School Musical

We're sure nearly every student secretly wishes that our school was just like the High School Musical movies we watched through our tween years of middle school. Students were able to let out all the reminiscent songs during the High School Musical theme for the drill team performance. As a bitterly cold January came to an end, students spent the last of the winter days cheering on the Ames High Boys and Girls Basketball and Drill team.

With the season coming to a close, the boys won their game on the 25th of January against Des Moines East, 55 - 47. The drill team seniors danced their hearts out for one of the last performances of their sparkling high school careers.

Between the Pep Band, the Cheer Squad, the Drill Team, and of course the basketball players themselves, it's impossible not to be entertained at an Ames High home game!

AHS Cheer Nationals

After working numerous long, hard hours all year, the Ames High Cheerleaders took a lengthy trip to Dallas, Texas for the 2014 Nationals. The cheerleaders strove for great heights and received a score of 93, the highest score they have ever garnered. The team of 20 dedicated girls spent countless hours preparing a routine which they started learning in July. The team ended their state season at nationals, and are motivated to do even better next year. Some people still question the validity of athletic status applied to cheerleading; however, as junior Shaniah Smith stated, "State cheerleading is a sport, because it takes extreme skill, practice, and dedication that most people don't have." State cheerleaders stick to a vigorous workout schedule throughout the year in preparation for the bigger competitions. The juniors on the squad are ready to aggressively prepare for the coming year. Ames High is very proud of all that was accomplished by the 2013-14 AHS State Cheerleaders.

Valentine's Coffee House

The Student Council-sponsored Coffee House has grown to be a favorite event in the hearts of many Ames High Students. During the Coffee House, student volunteer to sing, perform, or recite poetry. It is one of the most popular and widely attended creative outlets in the school. Coffee Houses usually happen once per quarter and take place in the media center during both first and second lunch to allow for a wide range of students to perform. This time, in honor of Valentine's day, the coffee house was scheduled for Friday, February 14. Members of Student Council cut out reflective red heart decorations and posted them on the back window and around the room. Many tributes were made in honor of the holiday.

AHS Hockey

Even when the days are cold, Ames High loves bundling up to cheer for Hockey! A large portion of the crowd at the Ice Arena were students supporting their friends for Senior Night. Each senior came out before the game with their parents with a chance to say where they were going to college and share their intended major. Throughout the game, Ames High students recieved orange and black inflatable noise makers to help them cheer when the team scored. While hockey isn't an official Ames High sport, it is still one of the most popular ones.

- Jr. Kyle Schaudt

"When participants arrive, they need to know exactly where to go and what to do. Signs are essential!"
- Soph. Hannah Greenlee

Hunger Banquet

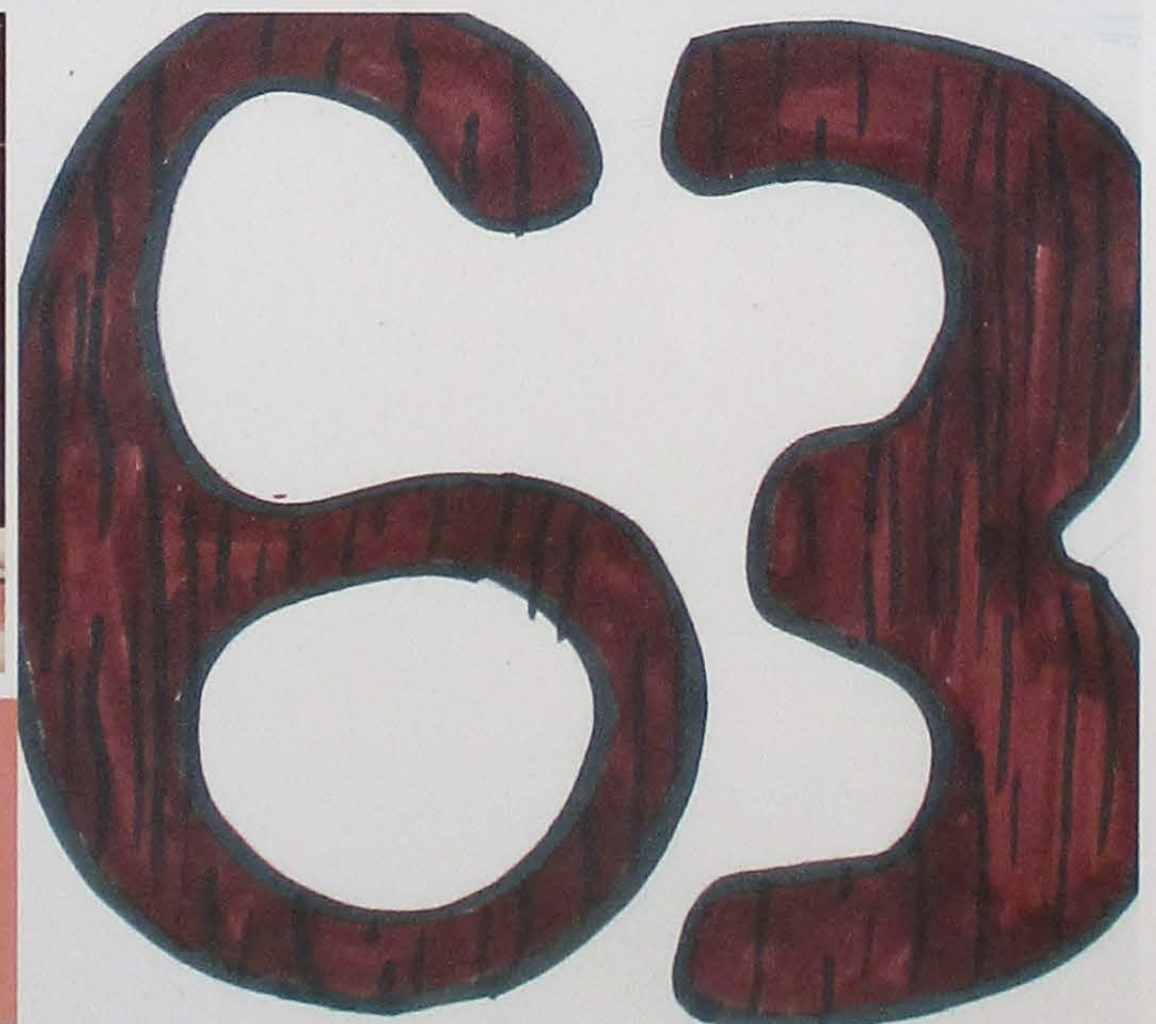

The Hunger Banquet is an annual fundraising event held every winter to help pay for the Uganda Service Project, where students spend 3 weeks building an elementary school in a village in Uganda. All participating helpers get a percentage of the money raised to help defray the cost of the trip, which is usually around $4,000. The Banquet raises money both through ticket sales ($10 a person) and through a silent auction.

The event would not be successful if not for the generous community donations for the auction, volunteer hours from parents, teachers, and students, and donations of beverages from Burgie's Coffee and rice from India Palace. Music was provided by the faculty band Stranger Than Fiction.

The event is co-sponsored by SHEPH (Students Helping to Eliminate Poverty and Hunger). In addition to providing man hours, SHEPH also raised money this year to drill a well in the village where the school is being built.

The Jazzy Lads, consisting of seniors Riley Dobyns and Zach Starshaug, and Juniors Jonah DeGeest and Patrick Jasper, put it up at a festival. The group has been an evolving entity over the years, with new members stepping into roles vacated by graduating seniors.

Winter Concert

Winter is finally drawing to a close in the unfortunately high latitude of Iowa where winter consumes half the year. The Ames High freshman, concert and symphonic bands, preluded by the talented percussion techniques ensemble, bid a lighthearted farewell to the bitter winds and ushered in the spring.

Percussion techniques, known for utilizing household items and trash to entertain with complex rhythms, employed plastic bags at this performance.

Margit, along with several other Ames High students, participated in this mission trip sponsored by St. Cecilia. The service work included working at a girls orphanage, teaching PE at a school, visiting with the elderly, and helping to build a school.

"It didn't even feel like work when we went to pass out food or help at the school or orphanage, I felt like they were teaching us about life and helping us more than we were helping them," Herrman said.

Overseas in Oman

This year a group of 8 students traveled to Oman to learn Arabic. They studied at the Center for International Learning in Muscat, Oman and experienced perfect 80 degree weather.

When they were not studying, the students snowboarded in the sand, bargained with storekeepers at Muttrah Souk (a big market), toured the Grand Mosque, and spent ample time hiking. "I got a lot better at Arabic and everyone was really patient while we were learning" junior Kelanie Crosswait said.

Senior Art Show

Each year, seniors are invited to showcase their art in the multi-week Senior Art Show. The student body are able to walk around the Multipurpose room to view what their fellow seniors have created throughout their years at Ames High. Everything from paintings, ceramics, or even photography is shown around the room. Some of the seniors are even given awards for the work that they have done. It is a way to appreciate what the art students have accomplished and inspire the younger students to be active participants in art classes in the years to come.

The spring play, Chemical Bonding, had the audience in tears of laughter and tears of sorrow in the space of an hour.

The play tackles the real-world issue of relationships and explores the tension between fulfilling one's responsibilities (caring for a seriously ill family member) and pursuing one's dreams (studying photography at NYU).

After all the laughs of the fall play, many were impressed by the range of emotions the thespians displayed in this more serious subject matter. "I think it stretched us all," jr. Conor Johnson said.

Spring Band Concert

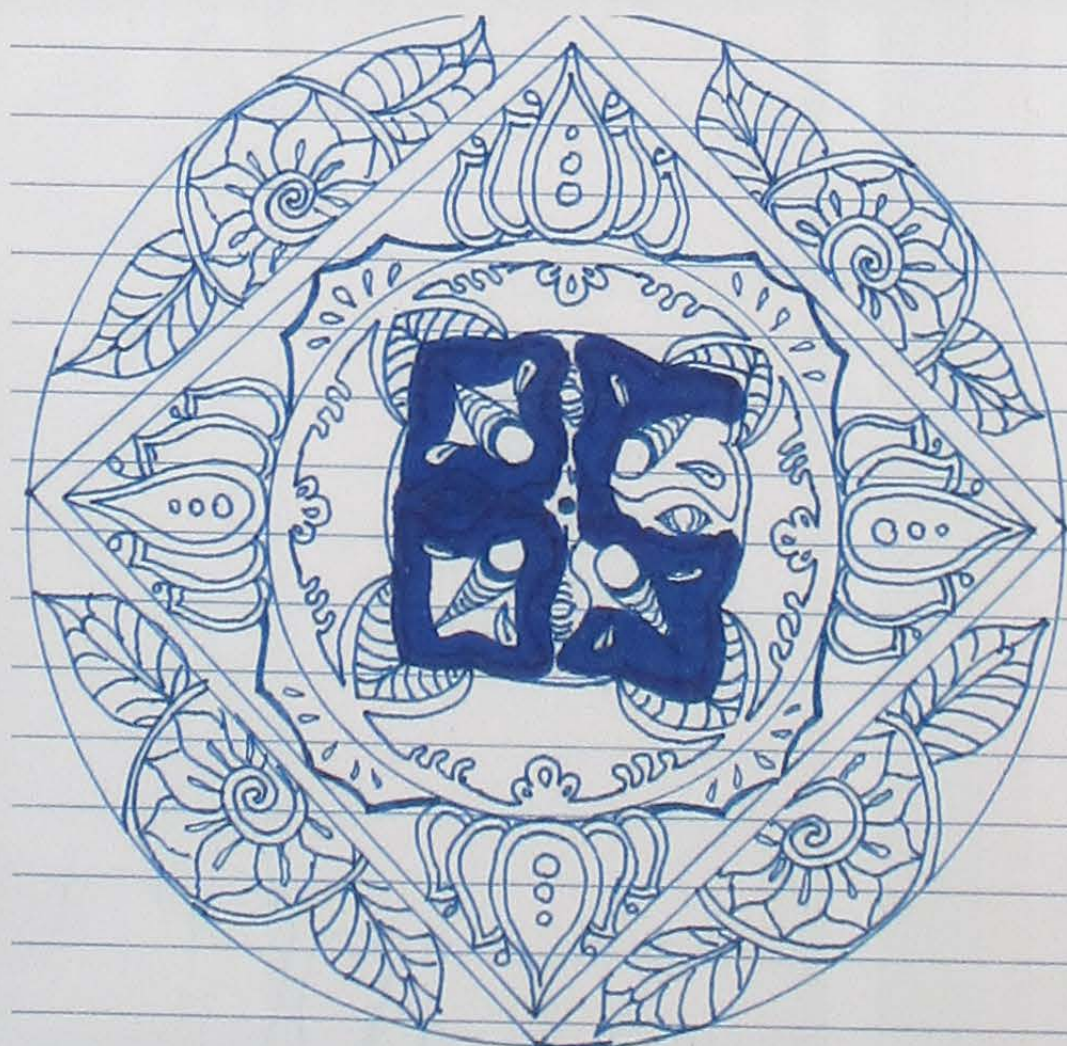

The spring band concert was a final goodbye to the seniors performing their last concert of their high school careers. It did not matter what grade you were in, all students felt sentimental about that Friday night because it was the last concert playing with the seniors as well as the last concert of the 2013-2014 year. Seniors Cameron McCaw and Andy Barnard dressed up in baseball uniforms to entertain the crowd while the band was playing. The auditorium was filled with family members and fellow students supporting the Ames High Band.

2| Seniors Lily Brown, Sara Diressova, Carla Beghin, Coach Boyd, Elizabeth Nutty, Iris Yang, Jessica Misra, and Carrie O'Connor Walker, the Ames Girls Tennis seniors, are recognized during the final meet.

3| Juniors Nadia Huffman, Elise Hill, Jennie Zhou, Sarah McCunn, Hope Mills, Grace Mills welcome in the incoming freshmen at the 8th Grade Orientation.

4| The new Key Club president and vice president, juniors Kyle Schaudt and Eli Bratsch-Prince, of the 2014-15 year.

Senior Snack Day

Nearing the end of the year, the seniors bring in loads of snacks to all of their classes. Seniors bring the food to share in every class and eat it every period throughout the day. Senior Snack Day has occurred twice this year and may very likely be a reoccurring tradition for the years to come.

AHS Track & Field

Apart from football, track & field has the most participants for any sports for both boys and girls.

The season proved to be a successful one for both teams this year. The girls sent numerous girls to state, including a strong emerging freshman group. The 4X400 group, the 4X800 group, and 800 meter runner Claire Dupuis all qualified for a state birth, showing that distance is still one our greatest strengths.

The boys team, under new head coach Ben Duea (yes, that Duea), overcame some key injuries to still claim the district championship. They also sent a large contingent of both individual and relay groups to state. "It was an exciting year," assistant coach Tim Mooney said, "and if it weren't for some truly unfortunate injuries, it could've been a historic year."

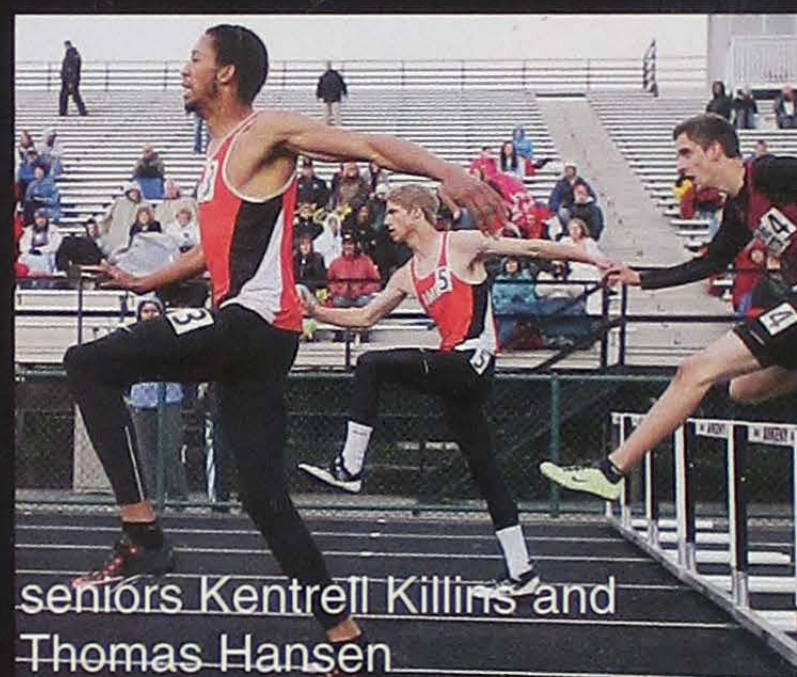

The track teams look to build on their success this year and have an even more successful season next year.

Seniors Last Week

The day all seniors had been waiting for: the last day of school. The day for the seniors moved in a blur of color. Seniors finished their last week of school with the bittersweet feeling knowing that their high school career had finally ended. Not only were they moving onto the next chapter of their lives, it was the last day the seniors were all together after being together for years. As the last bell rang, the seniors ran outside with shouts, screams, and smiles. Even though seniors had commencement and the senior picnic still upcoming, their year had finally come to a close. For everyone else in the school, students watched the seniors knowing that their time will come soon. It was a time for the freshmen, sophomores, and juniors to say a final goodbye to the grade that they had always admired. It was a day that the seniors anticipated for four years, and a day they will always remember.

Baccalaureate 2014

The Baccalaureate is a non-denominational spiritual celebration for graduating seniors. Families and fellow students join together in the auditorium to listen and support the pre-graduating seniors as they struggle to come to terms with who they are and how they fit into the broader world.

1| Senior Jen Berg blows bubbles in celebration of her last day.

2| Seniors Alle Bodholdt and Claire Espeset tie dye their t-shirts for chemistry.

3| Senior Elizabeth Settles sets her hands on fire for chemistry.

4| Seniors Kristine Shaw, Kelsy Lartius, and Natalie Vernon eat at the senior band lunch.

5| Senior Elizabeth Nutty celebrates making it to individual state tennis.

6| Juniors Hope Mills and Makenna Peterson get their dinner for the track banquet.

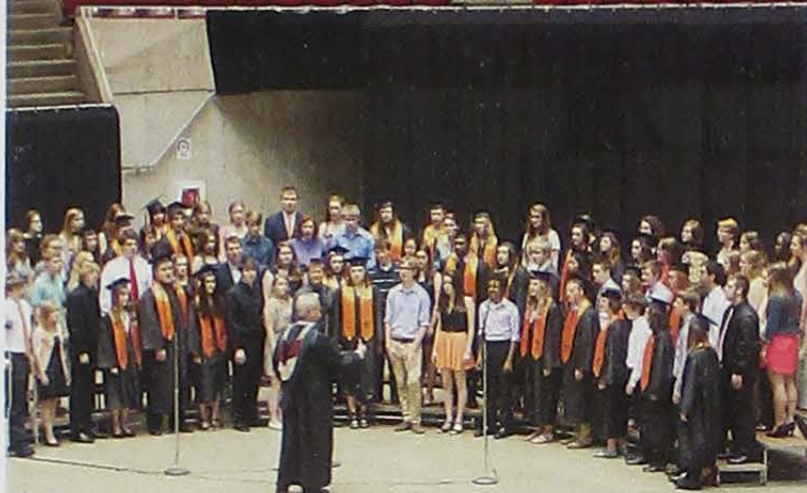

As a senior prank, seniors brought in two "Winter Trees" in the back lobby and sang carols, commemorating the infamous controversy from their freshman year. It ended with them giving a large thank-you to principal Evans with many seniors' signatures on it.

Graduation 2014

This year's commencement was a moving one, Cole Anderson, Anshuman Dash, and Hunter Prueger delivering class addresses, Vivian Cook reading the traditional poem, and Natalie Paxton singing the National Anthem. As this year's class was freshmen during Principal Evans' first year, there was a moving video featuring each staff member holding large portraits of students with whom they interact everyday. It was a powerful sendoff.

Sophomore Michael Burke and senior Tom Lunaburg perform the Titanic signature move after the commencement ceremony, celebrating that they feel like they are kings of the world.

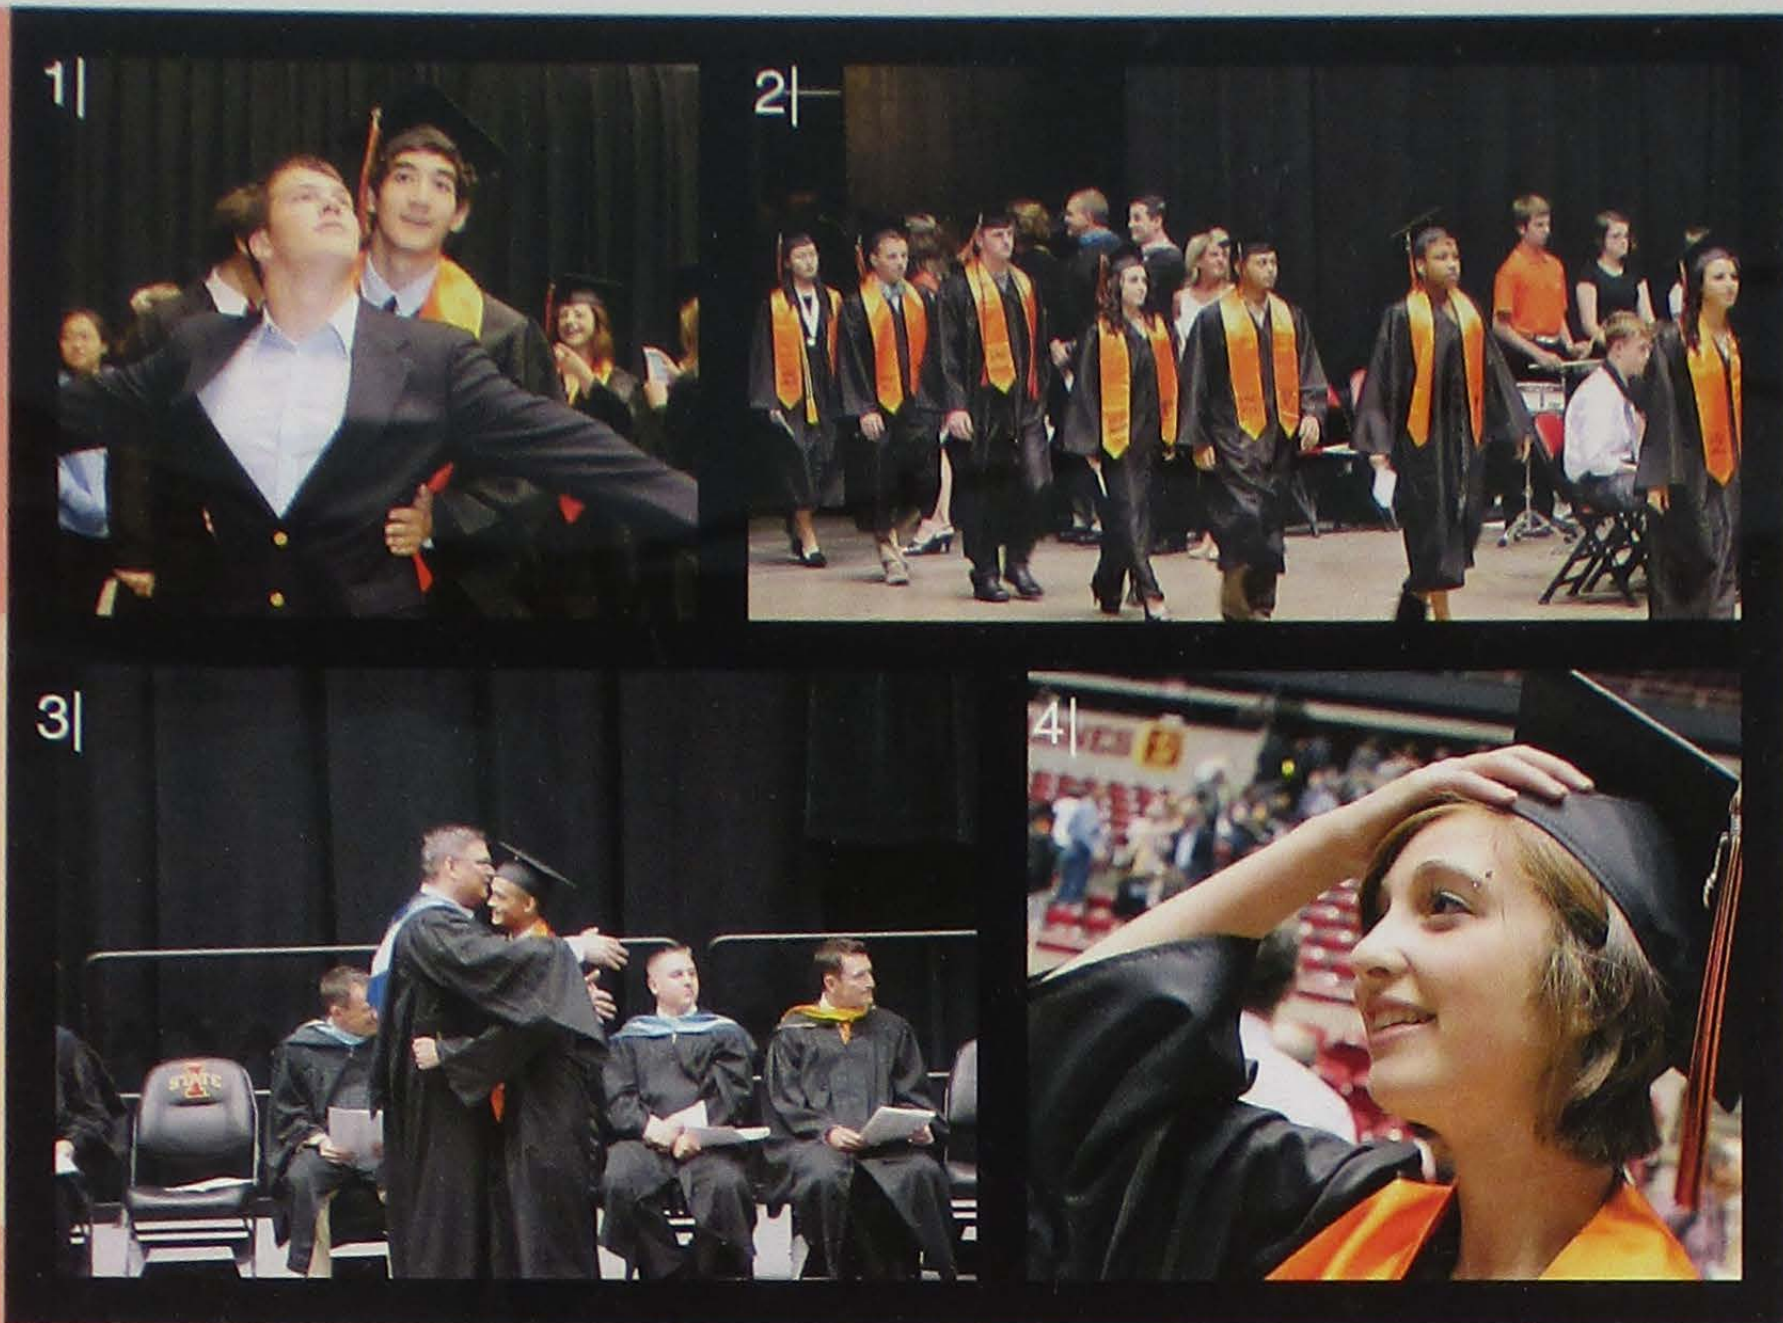

The line of pre-graduates walks into the auditorium for the very last time together as seniors. Seniors practice lining up and walking in together on Friday morning, ensuring a smooth ceremony.

Seniors Temi Agbaje, Daveion Curtis and Siriaco Garcia pose for a graduation selfie with junior Jared Larson.

3| Senior Hunter Prueger goes in for a bear hug with principal Spence Evans.
4| Senior Lily Brown stares off in amazement, barely believing that she is finally graduating high school.

The girls tennis travel to Ankeny to compete in their state competition ending their season and placing 4th as a team.

The Varsity Boys soccer team qualifies for state, exceeding expectations and adding to the list of successful teams this year.

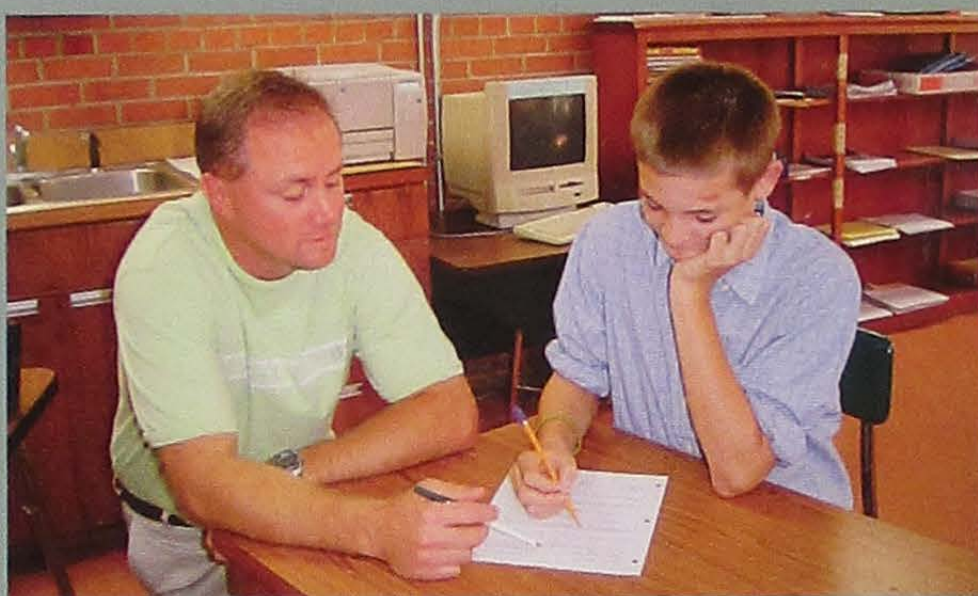

Hannah Fulton

Hannah was born on April 4, 1994, in Des Moines, the daughter of Russell and Peggy Fulton, of Ames, and sister of Jennifer Fulton, of Des Moines. She graduated Ames High School in 2013. Hannah possessed a sparkling personality, loved everyone, and always maintained a positive outlook. Even though her physical body was bound with limitations, her spirit was limitless. Many remember Hannah as that friendly little girl in a wheelchair who, when she wanted to talk to you, pointed to you with her finger so you'd get close enough to hear what she wanted to say. Hannah passed away May 1, 2014.

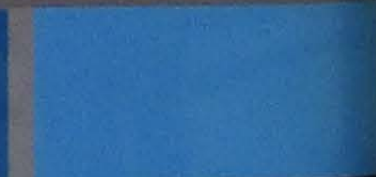

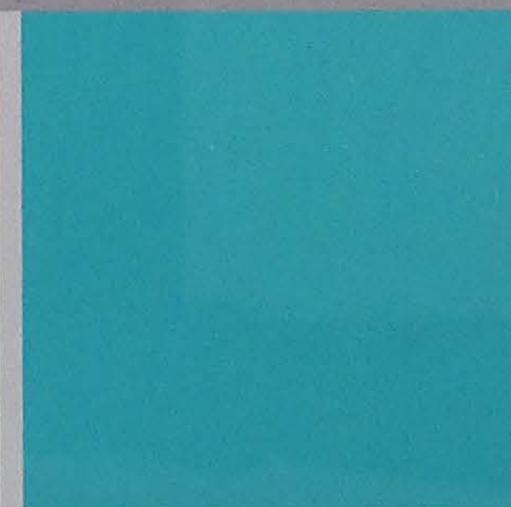

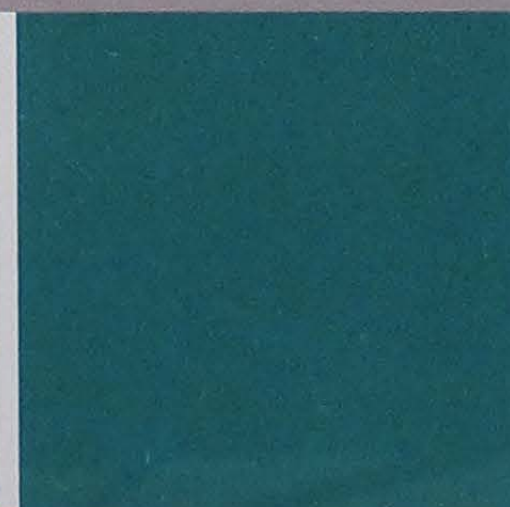

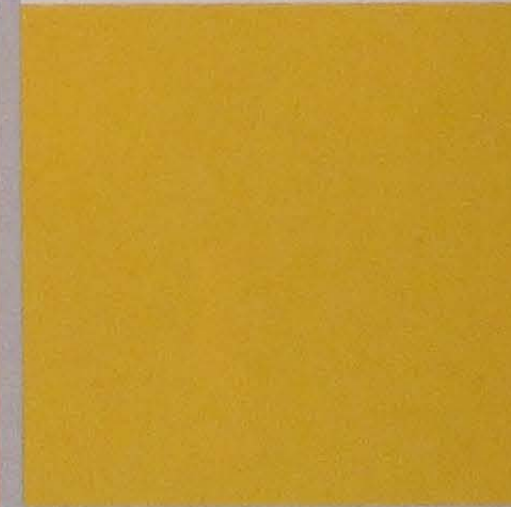

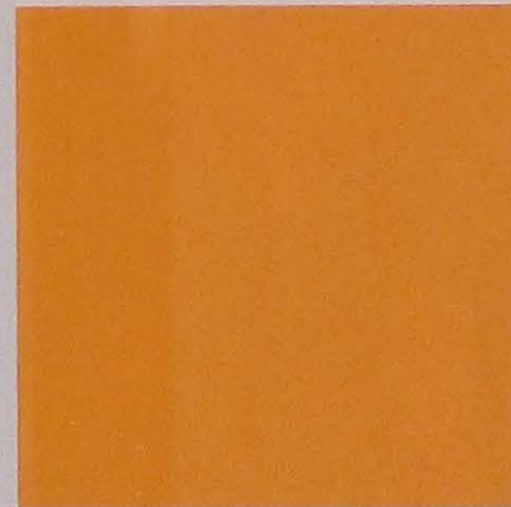

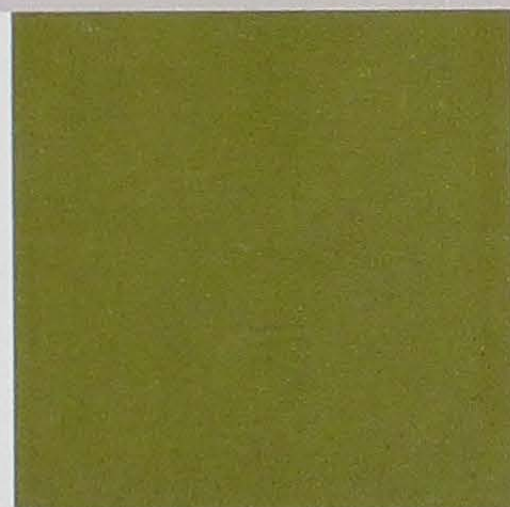

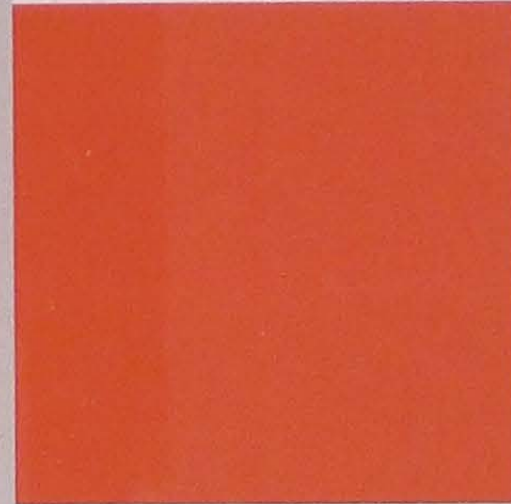

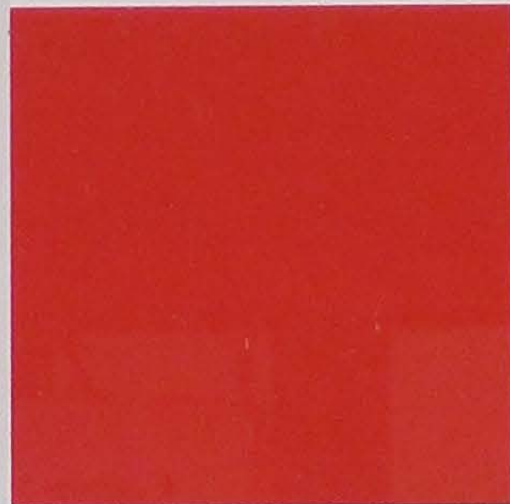

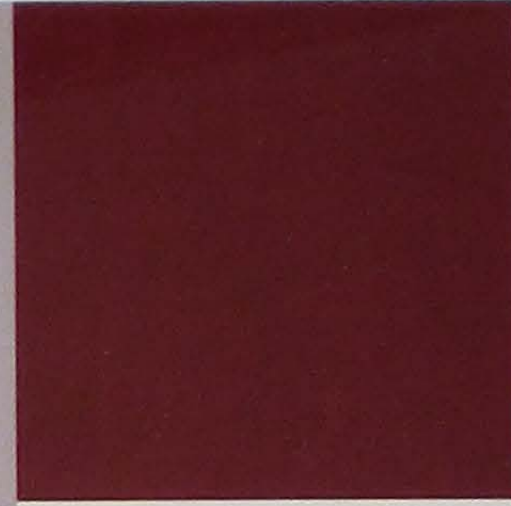

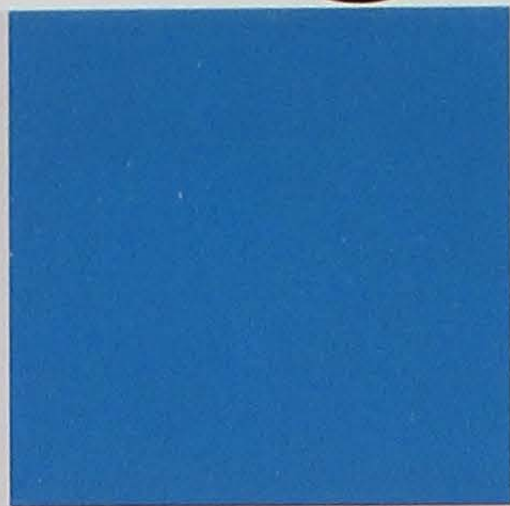

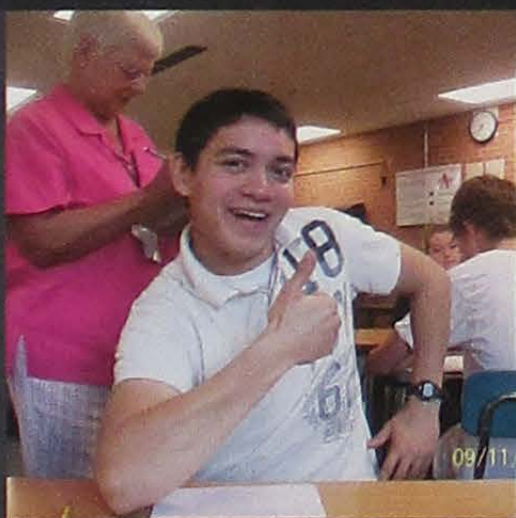

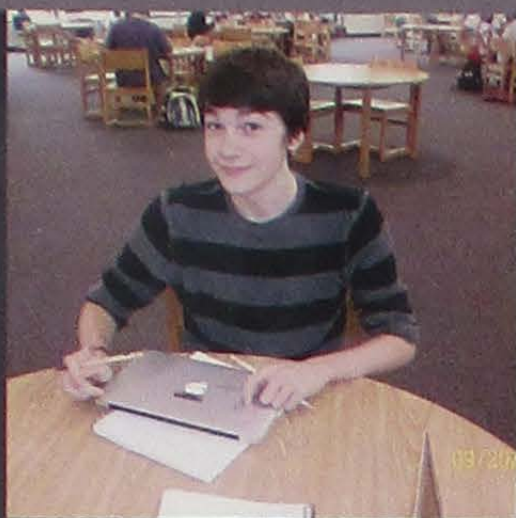

Brent Helmkamp

Brent was born on October 27, 1967, in Fort Dodge, Iowa. He was a three-time IHSSA state wrestling qualifier and a state champion his senior year. He received his BA from Drake University, where he was a NCAA Wrestling Championship national qualifier. He began teaching English at Woodward Granger in 1991 but transferred to Ames High in 1998 to coordinate ALP, the Alternative Learning Program. He coached wrestling until 2002, when he resigned to spend more time with his family. Mr. Helmkamp was loved and respected by his students, and he went the extra mile to see them succeed. He passed away on April 27, 2014, but his legacy continues today.

Allstate Speech

Model United Nations is a conference similar to the United Nations in which students participate as delegates to various UN Committees. Participants research and formulate political positions based on the actual policies of the countries they represent.
